

Girl Power in Robotics

By Caitlin, Cecilia, and Aylssa

How we over come male stereotypes

Girl Power in Robotics

These is some challenges girls have to face when they join robotics. There are many male stereotypes that girls have to face everyday in robotics, and this is our story of how we over come them.

This is us working on our robot for the competition this weekend. There can be many problems since the guys and girls can disagree sometimes.

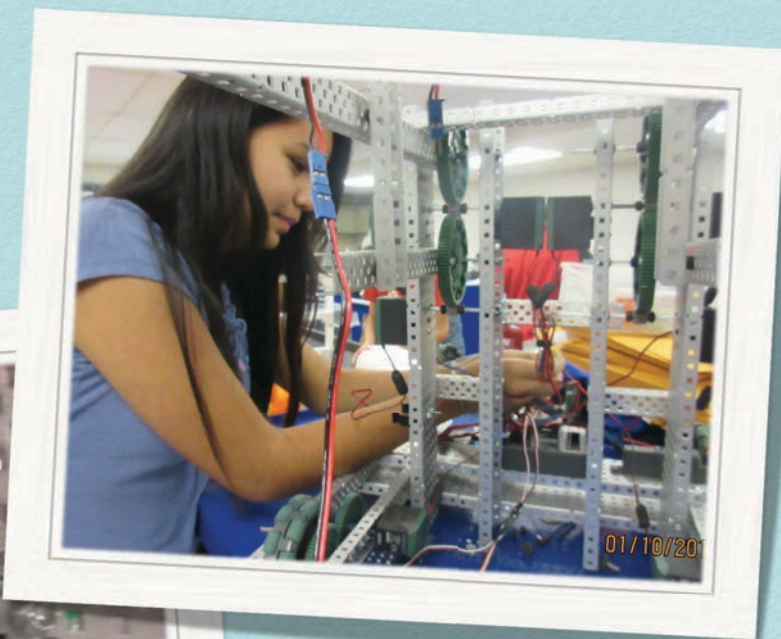

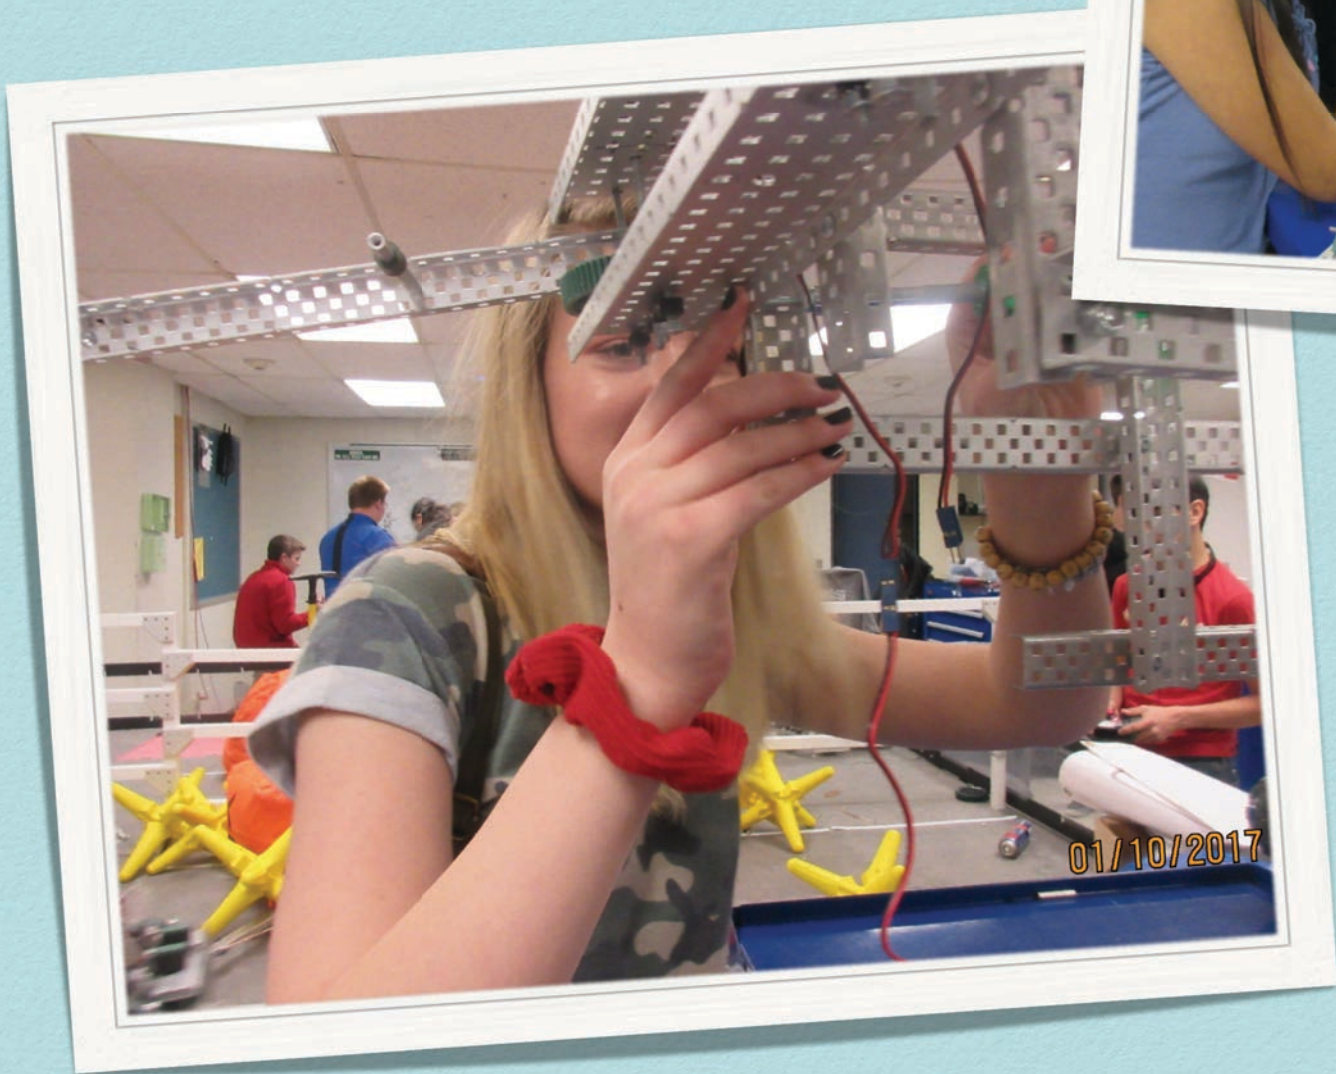

We work together as a team even though some people underestimate us just because we are girls.

We also do a lot of programing for our team just like everyone else.

We are here to show what we know and learn from are mistakes. We can take robotics seriously.

Written by Caitlin, Cecilia, and Alyssa
From Team 1064C from Omaha North High School

