

A Conundrum while in a CBS TV Interview

The photo was of Lancers Robotics team being interviewed by CBS Sports between matches at 2017 Worlds. The CBS film crew caught the Lancers Robotics team right in the middle of fixing a problem with our robot. We had just finished a match shortly before and our robot was having difficulties. We needed the expertise of each of our team members to come together quickly to get us back competing again. We were fortunate to fix our problems to continue on competing that day. This showed the teamwork that contributed to our success in VEX competitions throughout the year.
