

In 2015, Vex unveiled Nothing but Net, a fun-filled game with soaring green and orange balls rolling, bouncing, and flying across the field.

The Nothing But Net ball is a green polyurethane foam spherical Scoring Object with a diameter of 4". Each Ball weighs 0.115 lbs  $\pm$ 15%.

One use we've found for the ball is stress relief. Often times, long build sessions caused hands cramps and stress for us. To relieve this, we found that Nothing But Net balls make great stress relievers if one squeezes them. It's very relaxing, and easy to do.

Of course, the object is a ball, and with its shape, comes all the numerous uses of a ball. Bouncing it against the wall leads to entertainment, and playing catch with them helps build amazing teamwork and collaboration skills. If you want a challenge, grab 3 and try juggling!

Finally, because the balls are soft and malleable, they can be used as allen key holders - simply stab them in! This is completely safe, as the ball is made of foam. Thank you for time, and hope you like our ideas!
