

Wireless?!?

These wires are flooding out like a tornado just came through. In this photo there is a ton of wires coming out of the power box like vines in a rain forest.

They are exploding out of the power box. Wires make me feel like I have power. They remind me of plugging in and powering on my computer. When I plug in my computer it reminds me of building robots and fixing things.