

This brand new robot is in the building process still. It shows how much time these builds take, and also how much work you have to put in, to make one of these complex vex robots. The builders of this robot should definitely know how well they have done so far. Finally this image was chosen because of the time and work everyone needs to realize about it.