

In my picture my brother is working on his teams VEX Robot, his team had pick him for captain which made him very happy because it show that they believed in him and knew that he would make them exceed. Even though I had never worked on an IQ or VEX Robot I have always wanted to ever since my brother worked on that robot for the very first time. When I saw what great joy that robot and his teammates brought him, I knew VEX was a way for my brother to show the crowd, family, friends, and strangers that anything is possible in you put the time, effort, and heart into it. Even though that tiny little robot was just made of metal, gears, screws, and wiring, he knew, I knew, it was made of his heart and soul, and his teammates hearts and souls.
