

The Blessing in the Mortal Crisis

What my eyes see hurt my heart; and my soul because it is unbelievable the situation we are living in. In a pandemic that many people are afraid of. Not going to school, and having a computer to have an education is a blessing to have. Many people don't have money to afford a computer and seeing my computer reminds me of Robotics; because joining the computer to class is the way to see the teacher and communicating with my teacher. Blessed I am with God for allowing me to have an education and learn more of the art of Robotics; in this mortal crisis.
