

Vex Robotics Diaries

By: Manav Sannappanavar

What you see in the photo, is me (Manav Sannappanavar) doing the engineering notebook, the engineering is essential to your robotics team. I have decided to take up this task as I enjoy writing, drawing, pasting pictures, and documenting our ups and downs throughout the year. In the picture, I am writing about our work session, there was a lot to write because it was the beginning of the year, and we were moving very fast and building a lot of things simultaneously. I had even pasted pictures and printed them out. They were pictures of our robot and how it was coming along together. The engineering notebook alone can get a team to Worlds. That shows how important it is, and why I like doing it.
