

The Perfect Team

This image represents how both the pencil and the eraser need to work together to create a piece of art. The same way that a team needs to work together to build a robot. In the photo, there is a drawing that was created by both the eraser and the pencil, and that without one or the other the drawing cannot be completed. Like the pencil teammates work together to create and build a robot that is both functional and eye-catching. Also, like the eraser the teammates check for and fix any mistakes. Without one, the creation can't be perfected.
