

The wrench is the most underrated part in VEX robotics. When looking at first glance, one may not think a lot about it, but, in reality, it represents so much. The wrench is an absolute necessity in robotics, and, without it, robotics wouldn't exist. It is what allows every building piece to be secured, and it is used on a day to day basis. There are so many little things in life that are extremely useful, yet go unnoticed. The wrench is one of these things, and it truly shows how something so small can keep supporting something so big.
