

Girl Power Essay

Girl Power means a lot to my group and me. (When someone is treating a female wrong because of their gender that is wrong.) We know about this matter more than most people because school-grounds are where it happens most. I am not saying that I have been through this, but some people have. Not a lot of women get treated right because of things that men think that they are doing right, and they believe the way they are shaping the world is right. There is this one man named Dharman, who creates skits on people who have been misjudged and/or been mistreated in every skit. Some amazing and compassionate people get something, money, love, a gift, etc. These people are blessed with good karma even though it is a skit. This man wants to teach everyone a life lesson that they can remember. He wants to teach everyone the cruelties of the world. Most people also think girl power is right, more schools are teaching girl power and have after-clubs with only girls. Not to exclude boys, but to help girls grow more self-confidence in them. Our team realizes this because the whole virtual team is only girls. We know the things girls go through. We have a say and a right. We want to be educated, and house-work should be spread around. Now everyone knows about Girl Power, and Girls Scouts helps girls learn about selling and knowing our place in the world. In Ancient China, babies that are girls that weren't wanted were left to die, or like girls, their feet were tied together because tiny feet were attractive. Most girls now are thinking of going to space or creating a sky-high career. Everyone should support them. I am thinking of becoming a wilderness vet, which means I want to take care of wild animals, but I want to spend them with domestic animals too. Girls are used as servants or cooks and maids, not a lot of people realized that with our help, more people could go into other places, maybe even mars! In this one Hindi movie, this man's wife has a market and business degree, but her parents wanted her to marry him, so instead of going and pursuing her dreams, she had to marry him, but he runs a loan business. So all the money management goes to her, without the husband's father knowing, otherwise the father would be super mad. At the start of the movie, the narrator tells us that boys are praised for, and when there is a girl some grandparents even don't want her. But of course, it is still all a movie. I always have loved pockets, but for some reason, every pair of pants that I own either has no pockets or fake sewn-in pockets. The only pants that have pockets are my PJ pants, and I do not think I want to wear them outside my house. Here is what came up when I searched up Girl Power on google. Girl power is a slogan that encourages and celebrates empowerment, independence, confidence, and strength. The slogan's invention is credited to US punk band Bikini Kill, who published a zine called Girl Power in 1991. Though it said it was from Wikipedia, it does not tell us why Girl Power was made, which I think is why most women still fight for their rights. Our team wants every female in the world to know why and how this world is every woman on this earth who cares for someone all always over-thinks something because they want to keep them safe, especially mothers, who have children, theirs or adopted. Everyone wants their family and friends safe. Imagine that you just lost your child to a very powerful germ, whatever age, what if you lost your mother? They want what is best for you, now push that horrible thought out of your mind because wherever your mother is, she doesn't want a bunch of middle-schoolers to put a terrible thought in your mind. Girl Power brings girls into the world of reality. It brings them to save lives, build new things, who knows? Maybe the next girl who you see, whether it is family or not, might occur to us in the future as we see in those sci-fi movies.
