A college basketball player named John Walker was playing on a court by himself. John was the star player of the Kentucky Wildcats. The courts were really crowded that day. He was just shooting around and practicing for his big game in the next 4 hours. He was going to a game 7 in the college finals against the Gonzaga Bulldogs. He was shooting a basketball until he looked around and saw that there was no one around him. When he was still turned away from the hoop a black sheet was put over him. He was picked up and thrown in a trash can as he heard the lid being put on.

John was unconscious for 2 hours. When he woke up he was in a room with no windows and the door was locked. It was kind of like a jail cell. He didn't have his basketball but was still wearing his Kentucky Wildcats sweatshirt. When he was looking around trying to find an exit out of this room all of a sudden "Hello, John Walker." someone said. "Why am I in this room, and where and who are you?" John responded. "No more questions." they said.

"You know me and I know you" the voice said. All of a sudden on a wall of the room there was a live video being projected. "I am the Gonzaga Bulldogs Mascot, but under my mask I am someone else" as he says this he shows his head in the live video. "I am a NBA super fan." "Why are you doing this to me?" John said. "Why? I am not going to let another team take away our championship." the bulldogs mascot said. "What do I have to do to go play the game today?" John asked. The bulldogs mascot sat there thinking for a few minutes. "Are you up for a challenge John Walker?" the bulldogs mascot suspiciously asked.

"I'll do whatever it takes to play my game and win that championship for my team." John said. "Well then, listen up. I am trying to make a Shelf of Fame of signed basketballs by teams. I have three shelves, as you can see they are painted orange, purple, and teal. The orange shelf is for the basketballs autographed by NBA legends that played on Phoenix Suns. The purple shelf is for basketballs autographed by Los Angeles Lakers, and the Teal shelf is autographed by Golden State Warriors stars." "Why are you telling me about your project of a Shelf of Fame?" John asked. "If you want to get out then just listen." the Bulldogs mascot said. John just nodded his head

"I am going to turn my project of a Shelf of Fame into your way out. I have these little robots that are connected to a controller. You will use robots so there is no fingerprints on my framed basketballs" The Bulldogs mascot went to go grab the robots. The robots had a claw that could grab the sides of the framed basketball. "You will need to control the robot to make my Shelf of Fame. Every frame you break, is a minus one point. You have one minute to complete my Shelf of Fame. I will reset the shelves every time because then you have a lower chance of succeeding. Since it is very unlikely that you will complete this game in one minute I'll give you three tries." "Is there a certain way you want me to organize the basketballs on the shelves?" John asked.

"Yes. I want you to make a row of three framed basketballs, and 2 more framed basketballs on top of each basketball in the row on every shelf. The reason I want it in rows is because it will look nicer and that's all I can fit on every shelf. I want only two more basketballs on each shelf so it doesn't hit the ceiling. The bottom of the frame is either orange, purple, or teal. You need to set up the field by colors so you don't accidentally put the wrong basketball on the wrong shelf." "Okay. I only have three tries to complete your Shelf of Fame. Let's do it!" John exclaimed. "Calm down, this isn't supposed to be fun." the bulldogs mascot said.

The bulldogs mascot mixed up all the frames and came to John's room. He unlocked the door and grabbed John and pulled him to the shelves. "Okay, are you ready?" "Yup." "In 3..2..1 GO!" the Bulldogs mascot shouted. John failed the first two tries and his game was on the line right now. "HAHAHAHAHA, you will never get back to your game. You only have one more chance!" the Bulldogs mascot exclaimed. "Whatever, just start the timer." John said determined to get back to his game. "In 3..2..1 GO!" John got the teal shelf done in 15 seconds. He quickly got the orange shelf done in 20 seconds. With one second left he stacked the last basketball and completed the Shelf of Fame. "YES!!! I did it, I'm going to win the championship for my team!" John yelled. "Fine I'll let you out." the bulldogs mascot said. He took John out of the secret bunker and John got to the game. He got there 30 minutes before the game to warm up and was a starter in the game.

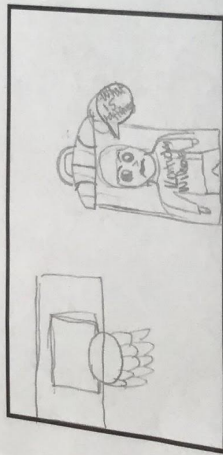

John played the game of his life with 40 points, 10 assists, and 10 rebounds. A triple double. There were 10 seconds left in the game and the score was 122 to 121 and Gonzaga was up. It was the Wildcats ball and John was waiting to get the ball since he was a shooting guard. He got the ball with 2 seconds left, took the three and won the game. 124-122. "JOHN, JOHN, JOHN!!" his whole team chanted as they carried John on their shoulders. "And our new college champions the KENTUCKY WILDCATS!!" said the announcer.
