Stem has always been seen as a Male dominant field. Our team, The Golden Chasers/81101C, aims to accept and make everyone feel welcome. We try our best to empower women and encourage them to explore their strengths and passions in Stem. We strive to be inclusive and welcoming to all while helping them find their preferred role on the team. There are a wide variety of positions on our team that help further develop key skills such as leadership, programming, building, vocabulary, technology skills and much more. Women and their powers have been overlooked and disregarded for too long. It is time for change and we are that change.
