First, I decided to use Canva, since it's a great poster making app. Then, I thought about some of the fun and important things I've been doing in the past year in Vex and chose three(Exploring Engineering Ideas, Developing Teamwork, and competing in tournaments). I made a draft of what I wanted it to look like and used multiple pictures and a simple format. For my final draft, I rearranged my first one to look like it does now. Then I thought, why not add some description because I had room. I added a few sentences to match with the three topics.
