To make this poster we first started out with interviewing our teammates. We thought that we should ask them what they were good at or the aspect of robotics they enjoyed the most. Each team member made a mini - poster. For making the poster we wanted to collage it a bit so using Canva we imported images that the team members had created. We also included some words that we would use to describe what robotics was to us. We made our own original artwork for the poster and avoided using copyrighted material. We then converted the Canva poster into a PDF for submission.
