

In the photo, we are using a protractor and a ruler to measure the dimensions of the robot. This shows an intersection between mathematics and robotics because geometry concepts, like angles and lengths, apply to robots.