

As a team, we decided that for this poster, we wanted to show all the different roles and possibilities that people could have in robotics. We also wanted to show the excitement and team members involved in the process of creating a robot.

In order to show the diversity in roles, we decided to include all of our teammates participating in the different roles presented in robotics. We passed this idea into Elizabeth, a member of our team, who promptly drew our teammates digitally with a tablet on Kleki and Procreate in various roles.

In addition, to convey the feeling of excitement and teamwork VEX Robotics portrayed, our team decided to present all members on the same 'table'; not separate but continuously communicating and working with each other. To showcase the feeling of excitement, Elizabeth decided to use bright tones and a simplistic style when drawing.
