

Triangles are just the best shape for everything. They are proven to be the strongest natural shape and are therefore used almost everywhere in engineering, and the same is true for VRC. Triangles distribute pressure evenly on all of its three sides, meaning its extremely difficult to break one. The photograph shows how we have incorporated triangles into our robot build

