Why you should join robotics:

Robotics teaches many important skills. The skills you learn from robotics include teamwork skills because you work in a team, responsibility because you will be responsible for many things on your team, and if you are selected to be team leader, leadership skills because you get to lead your team. Plus, you get to have fun and be competitive in competitions while learning all of these important skills. Also there are two different types of Robotics teams: Vex VRC (pictured below) and Vex IQ (pictured above).
