CJ Crocker, William Bancroft, Nick Tang

Something that our team prides itself on is our bond. Rather than just being teammates, we are all friends. Outside of meetings, we've held game nights, celebrated birthdays, played ping pong, went out to eat, etc. This image shows one of the times we watched Formula 1.

Watching F1 is something that a few team members started doing early last year, and now most of the team will watch races when time allows, either on a projector in our workshop or in one of the team member's apartments. Another key aspect of the photo is Intense Chocolate Milk. Intense Milk is a company based out of Upstate NY, and the team all shares a love of their chocolate milk so much that we were even able to receive a sponsorship from them.
